

Evaluation of the Social Services and Well-being Act

We are running a meeting in Pontypridd to discuss the Social Services and Well-being Act.

The meeting is part of the evaluation of the Act.

We want people to tell us about their experiences of care and support.

There are three sessions on Monday 16th March, and you can pick which one you want to come to:

Session 1: 1.00-2.45pm
Session 2: 3.15-5.00pm
Session 3: 5.30-7.15pm

The meeting will be held at the Lower Glyntaff Campus of the University of South Wales, Pontypridd.

What is the Social Services and Well-being (Wales) Act 2014?

The Act tries to:

Make life better for people and their carers.

Make social care law easier to use.

Give people stronger voice and control.

Make sure people get the help they need to lead a good life.

Say what social services will be like all over Wales.

Say how social services will work with health services and other services.

Make sure communities have a chance to offer their knowledge and experience.

Keep people safe from abuse and neglect.

The Act has five principles which guides what it tries to do:

1. Prevention

2. Well-being

3. Voice and Control

4. Co-production

5. Multi-Agency work

Evaluating the Act

Welsh Government has asked for the Act to be evaluated to see how effective it is.

This means that academics and professionals are speaking with people to see how well the Act is working.

They will then produce a report showing how well the Act has been working in Wales.

To book a place at the meeting, contact:

Ceri Jenkins (University of South Wales)

01443 483070 / ceri.jenkins@southwales.ac.uk

For more information about the study, contact:

Professor Mark Llewellyn

University of South Wales

01443 483070 / mark.llewellyn@southwales.ac.uk